WHY BUCK'S HOT BLAST

Heater Will Actually Pay For Itself.

Because Buck's Hot Blast will produce as much heat and as satisfactory a fire in every way, by using the cheapest dollar and a quarter coal, slack or screenings, as other heaters in which you must use high grade soft coal or hard coal. You can see at a glance how soon this saving in fuel will make a Buck's Hot Blast actually pay for itself. It is not the first cost of stove that counts so much, it is what you have to pay to feed it, in coal.

This is the "Buck's Stove."

TAKING IT COOLLY.

Some of many instances of extraordinary coolness in the midst of danger and otherwise that have been recorded, are here afforded to our readers, together with some amusing sayings and doings:

Toward the close of the battle of Inkermann, in Southern Russia, Lord Raglan, returning from taking leave of Gen. Strangways, met a sergeant carrying water to the wounded. The sergeant drew himself up to salute, when a round shot came bounding over the hill, and knocked his forage cap out of his hand. The man picked it up, dusted it on his knee, placed it carefully on his head and made the salute, not a muscle of his countenance moving the while.

"A neat thing, that, my man," said Lord Raglan.

"Yes, my lord," replied the sergeant, with another salute; "but a miss is as good as a mile."

The commander was probably not surprised by such an exhibition of sangfroid, being himself good that way.

Lord Fitzroy Somerset was badly hurt at Waterloo, and suffered the amputation of an arm. The prince of Orange, who was in the hospital, says of Somerset's nerve:

"I was not conscious of the presence of Lord Fitzroy Somerset until I heard him call out in his ordinary tone: 'Hello! Don't carry that arm away till I have taken off my ring!' Neither would nor operation had extorted a groan from his lips."

But there are plenty of people capable of behaving like Spartans where the trouble does not touch their individuality.

"How can I get out of this?" asked an Englishman, up to his armpits in a Scotch bog, of a passer-by.

"I dinna think ye can get out of it," was the response of the Highlander, as he went on his way.

While Gen. Thomas was inspecting the fortifications of Chattanooga with Gen. Garfield, they heard some one shout:

"Hello, mister! You! I want to speak to you!"

Gen. Thomas, turning, found that he was the "mister" so politely hailed by the East Tennessean soldier.

"Well, my man," said he, "what do you want with me?"

"I want to get a furlough, mister, that's what I want," was the reply.

"Why do you want a furlough, my man?" inquired the general.

"Waal, I want to go home to see my wife."

"How long is it since you saw her?"

"Ever since I enlisted; nigh onto three months."

"Three months!" exclaimed the commander. "Why, my good fellow, I have not seen my wife for three years!"

The Tennessean looked incredulous, and coolly drawled out:

"Waal, you see, me and my wife ain't that sort!"

John Phoenix, the American humorist, being one night at the theater, fancied he saw a friend some three seats in front of him. Turning to his next neighbor, he said:

"Would you be kind enough to touch that gentleman with your stick?"

"Certainly," was the reply, and the thing was done; but when the individual thus assaulted turned round, Phoenix saw he was not the man he took him for, and became at once absorbed in the play, leaving his friend with the cane to settle matters with the gentleman in front, which, as he had no excuse handy, was not done without considerable trouble. When the hubbub was over the victim said:

"Didn't you tell me to tap that man with my cane?"

"Yes."

"And what did you want?"

"Oh," said Phoenix, with imperturbable gravity, "I wanted to see whether you would tap him or not!"

At the burning of a provision store the crowd helped themselves freely. One man grasped a huge cheese as his share of the plunder. Rising up with it, he found himself face to face with a policeman, and with admirable presence of mind put the plunder into the officer's arms, saying:

"You had better take care of that, policeman, or some one will be walking off with it."

Equally ready to relinquish his loot when there was no help for it was a Chicago negro, caught by a poultry fancier in the act of carrying off some of his live stock, and challenged with:

"What are you doing with my chickens?"

"I wuz gwine ter fetch 'em back, boss," exclaimed he. "Dere's a nigger roun' here what's bin disputin' along er me 'bout dem chickens. I said dey wuz Coachin' Chyniz, an' he said dey wuz Alabammar pullets; an' I wuz jes' takin' 'em roun' fer ter 'establish my nollidge. Dey don't lay no aigs, does dey, boss? Ef dey does, I'm mighty shamed of hustlin' 'em roun'. Aigs is scace."

Taken Unawares.

One of the most ingenious methods in the world for photographing persons and keeping them in ignorance of the fact is that of the bank of France. The bank has a hidden studio in a gallery behind the cashier's desk, so that at a signal from one of the bank employees any suspected customer will instantly have his picture taken without his own knowledge.

Good Bargain.

Old Uncle Silas used to say that no bargain is a good one unless both sides feel that they have gained some advantage by it. Russia and Japan have made a good bargain, according to that theory.

Seeking Relief.

When a woman gets palpitation of the tongue her husband generally finds that his business demands more of his time.—Tarrytown News.
